Head to the Hill
National Brain Tumor Society

Head to the Hill is Now Virtual!

At Brain Tumor Action Day, the National Brain Tumor Society's annual advocacy event, advocates and stakeholders from across the nation come together to promote legislation that affects patients and their families. This year, Head to the Hill will be held virtually, offering attendees the opportunity to advocate from the comfort of their own homes.

The virtual format of this year's event will include keynote speakers, panel discussions, and networking opportunities. Attendees will have the chance to connect with other advocates, learn about the latest developments in brain tumor research, and take action on behalf of the brain tumor community.

To register for Head to the Hill and learn more about this year's event, visit our website or contact us directly.

Survey: Live Training

Whether you're new to brain tumors or an experienced advocate, this virtual training session will provide you with the skills and knowledge you need to effectively advocate for the brain tumor community. Attendees will learn about the latest research, treatment options, and how to engage with policymakers and decision-makers.

Call to Action: Raise Awareness of DPS

DPS (Dietary Pattern Score) is a tool used to assess the quality of a diet. Eating a well-balanced diet is crucial for maintaining a healthy weight and reducing the risk of developing brain tumors. Help raise awareness of the importance of DPS and support healthy eating habits by attending this event.

Thank you for taking action to protect the brain tumor community.

United States Census 2020

The United States Census is an important tool for understanding the needs of the nation's population. The Census provides valuable data on demographics, health, and social trends that inform public policy and funding decisions. This year, the Census is more important than ever, with the data used to guide the distribution of federal funds to communities across the country.

Participation in the Census is voluntary, but it is crucial for ensuring that every community receives the resources it needs. By completing the Census, you are helping to make our country stronger.

To participate in the Census, visit the official website or contact your local community organization for more information.
